

'The Quest' Incentive Program Honors Youth and Amateur Riders

Working together the Walking Horse Owners' Association (WHOA) and the Walking Horse Report honor the achievements of Youth and Amateur Riders through the Quest high point Incentive program. Amateur and Youth Riders who are members of WHOA will earn riders' points from any show that provides the Walking Horse Report with their show results within 30 days.

The Quest honors the show ring achievements of WHOA members. Quest points follow the rider, no matter which class or division they are showing in, as long as the class is designated as youth or amateur.

The Quest award honors the top ten riders in four different divisions: Youth Pleasure, Youth Performance, Amateur Pleasure and Amateur Performance. Point standings in The Quest will be available in mid-June on the Walking Horse Report and WHOA websites. The winning riders will receive their awards at the WHOA National Convention held in February.
